There are laws of thought that run through life that has created all that we see today. Understanding these laws can change a weedy garden into a fruitful blooming one.

Those laws of thought say that we have created our gardens with our thoughts and all that is Attractive into then.

Those laws of thought say that all thoughts to be fruitful must not just clone themselves but must mate with other thoughts and those unseen thoughts are the creator of all that we see

Those laws of thought say that all thoughts that we embrace are prayers and that all prayers or answered, not some but all.

The master law that is the key to the creator and his creations is that our thoughts do not clone themselves but mated with others thoughts that can create two ways of thinking, one that we are as a blooming garden and the other that we are a blooming garden. This law is the master law of creation itself; one way of thinking makes creators the other makes clones of the creator.

Knowing that you are not a cool summer day, but you are as a cool summer day will free you mind from slavery and Allow you to see and walk on the earth as well in gardens on cool summer days.

My Prayers My Thoughts
Barry Wyatt Jr.